

FRESHERS' WEEK WITH INTENSIVE CZECH COURSE

The Dean, the Language Department and the students of the 2nd Faculty of Medicine cordially invite you to attend an orientation week for 1st year students. The purpose of this week is to help you settle down and provide a smooth transition into your first year at medical school. There is an intensive Czech course available to give you a first glance into the language and life in Prague. In addition, there are afternoon activities planned including tours of the faculty and important departments, discussion forums where you can meet upper year students and get some essential information, as well as student talks with advice on getting through 1st year. Also to look forward to are the evening events like the team-building activities, pub quizzes and nights out where you can meet your peers as well as get the chance to win great prizes like your first muscle poster or dictionaries! The week will end with the White Coat Ceremony, where you will receive your first white coat symbolizing your entrance into the medical society.

INTENSIVE CZECH COURSE SYLLABUS

A very important part of the program is an introduction to the Czech language. The best way to have a smoother transition into a new living environment is to master the language. This will help you have an easier communication with patients, learn more about the country, and more importantly help you to deal with the problems that may arise when living in the Czech Republic. This course offers an excellent opportunity to start learning the Czech language very quickly and intensively. The Czech classes will be held everyday, except Friday, and you can make tea or coffee during your break in the small kitchen available.

After this course, you will be able to read Czech text and understand basic phrases. You will be able to introduce yourselves as well as read and understand basic signs. You will also know Czech words for some food, drinks and furniture.

Please notice that the Czech themes taught during this week won't be repeated at the official beginning of the academic year, so that means that if you attend Freshers' Week you'll have the advantage compared to those who will not attend. The Czech book will be available for you to buy at the language department where you will have the classes for a price of 700czk.
